Cooper's Corner

by Martha MacLeod

Wasps
Last week I flew back from family time in Reno, Nevada. I had seat 26B and boarded early with people who need extra time. I found my seat, put my small roller bag in the over-head luggage and took my place in the middle of three. Just before the doors closed a young lady came and said, "You've got my seat!" and pointed to the reservation on her iPhone. I pulled my paper boarding pass out of my purse and before I could read it myself others looked over my shoulder and said "Oh, you have 26E." So I got up and moved.

That's when I noticed that B and E do look alike, especially when you're a senior.
When I got to Fargo I spent the night in a motel. Now for the surprise. Judy came in from St. Louis, Missouri the next morning and we drove home to Oakes. On the way we stopped in Milnor to pick up the puppy dog.

Cooper was so excited when he saw me, he jumped up and down and wiggled all over and gave me sweet kisses. It was a joyful reunion. I told Cooper Judy was here. He didn't look surprised. He dashed out to the car, into the driver's seat and leapt up on Judy in the passenger seat. He was huffing and puffing from all the jumping and wiggling. Once we got on the road for home he curled up in the back seat and fell asleep.

It was great to be in our own Home Sweet Home. We sat in the back yard and relaxed in the fresh air.

Cooper didn't let me out of his sight. He stayed within 10 feet of me at all times. We sat together on the sofa while I petted him.

Then I thought about his stay in the kennel.

He was well cared for, got his food and had other dogs to play with. But he didn't get petted. I found a booger in the corner of his eye. Nobody takes care of him like I do. He is such a cutie.

The next night after Judy went to bed Cooper and I went outside. It was almost sundown. The sky was beautiful and Cooper ran around the yard following the fence line and then went behind the rock garden to bark at an alley cat. Then he came up on the deck and sat under the little table by my chair.

Suddenly he started pawing and shaking himself. He couldn't get out from under the table. I moved the table and a wasp flew up and jabbed me on my left eyebrow. Boy did that hurt. "Let's get out of here!" I yelled to Cooper. We headed for the back door.

Cooper ran into the kitchen shaking himself. I discovered the wasp had followed us and I stayed on the back porch. The wasp went toward the window, I grabbed the can of insect spray and hurriedly doused the wasp.

I went inside a little shaken and found Cooper running in circles dashing from one end of the house to the other trying to outrun the wasp. The wasp was gone but Cooper had clearly sustained a bite. I watched his face for the next hour. He hyper-ventilated, his eyes were glassy and his tongue was hanging out. My poor baby!

After an hour he calmed down enough that he could sit still for a minute or two. I petted him and said all the sweet nothings I usually say to him. I stroked his right ear and then his left ear. There it was. In the middle of the flapping part of his ear was a lump the size of a marble. He had sustained a wasp bite on his ear.

It took another hour for him to stop hyperventilating and just pant. I was alarmed but the vet was closed and emergency room is in Fargo. Eventually he went into his kennel. It seemed to calm him.

I had a throbbing headache and tried to sleep. At about midnight we were both calm.

The next morning Cooper was fine. My eye was droopy and watering. we went outside and there on the deck was a swarm of 25 or 30 wasps, it looked as if they wanted to make a nest. I grabbed the can of insect spray again and shot them down. Only a few escaped. It was rather dramatic. And then it was over.

Now life is once more peaceful on Sixth Street North, Oakes, North Dakota.

And so it is.
