One word, one three-letter word

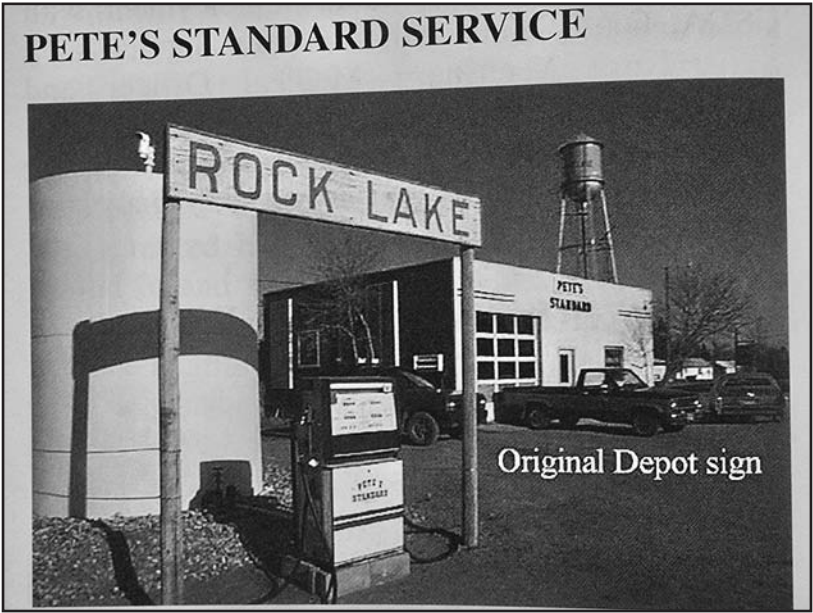

Hazel Krack
Interview: May 1, 2018
County: Towner
City: Maza
“I was raised three miles north of Maza,” Hazel says. “Grandpa settled there in 1893. When Grandfather lost the farm during the Depression, Dad bought it back from the government [in 1939]. “My dear grand-father stayed there in the house. He had his room. Grandpa had a lot to do with my interest in history and the Bible. I just loved to go and sit and listen to him talk.

more. And then I was preaching for 35 years. I had known from the time I was a little girl that was what was meant for me to do. I was in the ministry in South Dakota, Utah, Colorado, Nebraska, and I was back here a year, but I took care of my parents and then after they died then I moved into Cando and I’ve been here in the library most o’ the time.”
Her favorite Bible passage is “Jesus Christ is the same yesterday and today and forever,” found in Hebrews 13:8.

Looking Back

By Kaloni Lang
Of the Record Herald

Vernon (Pete) Peterson owned the station started by Harvey Dalzell. It was managed by Harold Johnson for ten years. Harvey operated it himself for several years and sold it to Harry Bucholz. Pete worked as a mechanic for the Farmers Union Oil Company when Alfred Raasakka was manager, then for Harvey Dalzell and Harry Bucholz before purchasing the business. He married Eileen Clouse and their only child was Carla (Kinunen) who died in 1975. His only grandchild is Julie Gai Kinunen of Fergus Falls, Minnesota. Pete died in June of 2004.
Pete ran "Pete's Standard" on the corner of the town's main square for three decades. Pete was busy pumping gas, doing oil changes, washing vehicles and fixing tires. He had the station open six days a week 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Never too busy that he didn't take time to visit with his customers.

Pete liked his hometown of Rocklake where he had spent all his life. He always told stories of way back when. Peter had a love for cars. He had a few he raced with on his race track out in the country.
Pete was so looking forward to the 2005 Centennial of Rocklake so he could visit with the people coming back for the celebration. It won't be the same for friends of Pete's.
